Letter from the STLCC President

How about this weather! Well August was a quiet month so far. Sounds like the group that is going to Mackinaw Island are in for a good time. Kudos to Carl and Sharon for putting together a great folder for those going on the trip.

At the last meeting it was discussed about trying a new location for our monthly meeting. The September meeting will be held at TJ's Wings on Vance Road in Fenton. They have a private room with bar and restroom that would be just for our use. Next to the restaurant is a medical building that has offered their parking lot just for our use. Once the meeting is over you we are welcomed to stay as long as you want. They also have a great outside patio that we can move to after the meeting. Food will be buffet style and as I write this we are working on a menu and price.

September looks to be a quiet month besides Josephine's Run, Funfest and our club picnic. Feel free to pick a place and throw a happy hour on the calendar at our next meeting.

Once again I would like to remind members that planning an event is really easy. Just talk to the folks that have taken the time to create fun for everyone. Remember this is your club!
Enjoy this beautiful weather and drive safely!

Save the Wave!

This is from STLCC member Bob Kusky:

Bob and Patti Kusky made a bold trip in their C5 convertible with a 2,500 mile two week trip to the eastern coast of South Carolina. What a ride, and “we would have never believed a car could be so comfortable travelling such a distance.” The trip started in Ballwin and wound through Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee. Stops to visit friends in Roanoke and Lynchburg, along with a visit to Appomattox Court House Virginia where Robert E. Lee surrendered to General Ulysses Grant. On to the NASCAR Hall of Fame in Charlotte, North Carolina, and then to historic Charleston, South Carolina. Great mountain roads in Virginia and North Carolina were the highlight, especially with the top down cruising the Blue Ridge Parkway. Only 45 mph, but well worth the sights and sounds and passing a car or two every 20 minutes or longer.

After a week seeing historic homes and visiting Fort Sumter (OK, we visited Appomattox Court House, VA first where the Civil War ended and then Fort Sumter where the Civil War began second). A little fishing off the Charleston coast net Bob a small 3 foot Hammerhead Shark that was pretty cool. A couple days on Isle of Palms Beach, a plantation tour, a Charleston Pub Tour that led to Bob singing Karaoke (Johnny Cash “God Gonna Cut You Down,” Roy Orbison “Pretty Woman,” and Brad Paisley “Alcohol” topped the night. Oh, Bob and Patti did stop and get a picture in the Moon Pie store. After a week in Charleston, headed back to old St. Lou with one evening in Gatlinburg, Tennessee. The highlight of driving with the top down was the 30 miles drive across the Great Smokey Mountains from Cherokee, NC to Gatlinburg, TN. Beautiful scenery! Gas mileage on the 5.7 litre 6 speed manual beast was 24.8 mpg as the worst and 28.6 mpg as the best. Overall, very happy! But like Dorothy said in The Wizard of Oz, “There is no place like home!”

Route66/St. Louis Corvette Club Autocross.

A very successful Autocross was held at the Family Arena August 17 and 18. St. Louis Corvette Club provided two sanctions to allow 12 events for the weekend. Route 66 Corvette Club set a challenging course and their members manned corners provided food and made everyone very welcome.

Special thanks should go to Ron Hagenow for many hours in the sun on his feet as chief starter for the event.

STLCC contestants included Tammy Walker, Peggy Craig, Jeff Craig and Jerry Craig.

A few brave people volunteered to ride along including Ruth Howard, and Mike Kirby. Tom Marlow and Randy Howard rode multiple times. They are both hooked. Note to riders: It is perfectly acceptable to grab the door and and mutter quietly, “eee, eee, eee” during the ride.

Not a Corvette Story But...

I will begin by telling you that I grew up in a small farming town called Manteno, Illinois. It is roughly 50 miles straight south of Chicago. My Dad was a farmer and between him and my brothers we could repair most anything mechanical. But once cars became more complicated and we had a problem, we took them to a small garage operated by Jack Trepanier. He had a typical small town garage with two bays but he could fix anything.

Skip forward to roughly 1991 and we were visiting my folks over the Fourth of July. The town always had a nice car show so I went to check out the cool cars. Among the cars was a customized 1950 Buick Sedanette that had the most outrageous stereo setup I've ever heard. I ended up talking with the guy next to it and found out it was built by Troy Trepanier, Jack's son. He had about $20,000 in Orion stereo equipment and you could hear the jazz playing about 3 blocks away. That car was featured in Hot Rod magazine and won the Hot Rod Car of the Year for 1992. That was the beginning of "Rad Rods by Troy".

Troy has gone on to be one of the premier custom car builders in the country. You can see his cars at a lot of custom car shows and magazines. He's been featured in a TV program called "Rides" that was on a few years ago as well as some Mothers Car Care ads.

To say he builds fantastic cars is an understatement. If you find the June issue of Hot Rod they did a 25th anniversary tribute to him with a lot of his cars featured. One car called "Blowfish" is a Bonneville record holder that has run in the 340mph range. He also built a '36 Ford Three-Window Coupe which won the Riddler award for the top customized car in the country in 2007. The current Hot Rod Magazine features his '56 Buick called "Nailed".

Whenever I get back home I try to visit his shop. It is in the same location as his Dad's, who still works there, but in a bigger building. He has a showroom up front and a shop in back but you can just wander around and check out anything he is working on. One favorite of mine is a '54 Buick with the entire running gear from a Mercedes G55 AMG. The last time I was there he was almost finished with a '55 Chevy in black with a 502/6-speed that had paint like glass. His attention to detail is beyond anything I've seen. He recently built a black '58 Corvette that won first place in the latest Detroit Auto Show.

One time I was talking to one of his fabricators and noticed he looked familiar. I discovered he was Jarred Zimmerman who used to be on Horsepower TV. He was a great guy to talk to. Jarred is now on a program called Car Fix on the Velocity channel.

I'll include some pictures I've taken of some of his cars and I hope you enjoy them.

Tech Tip - submitted by Editor

C5 and C6 Corvettes have large diameter polished exhaust tips, especially those from the aftermarket. The inside of my C6 tips would get coated with a dirty film and thick black goo specks (technical term). I bought several brands of metal polish recommended by various Corvette advertisers and internet forums, but frankly, none of them worked very well.

Later I found an off the wall suggestion to use a household product called Cerama Bryte Cooktop Cleaner. I had to search a little for it but was successful in locating it locally. Eureka! This stuff really works!

Just apply some of the product on a dry paper towel then rub on the interior of the exhaust tip (works on outside of the tips as well). I like to use a generous amount and let it set for a minute, then use another paper towel to rub it and the black icky stuff off. If the exhaust tip is especially nasty it may take several applications, but this process will leave the tips clean and shiny, both inside and out. When used every time I wash the car it is very easy to clean/polish the tips using this method. I have used it on my stock and new Corsa stainless steel exhaust systems and it worked like a charm on both. One bottle will probably be a lifetime supply.

Please submit your recipes (preferably in MS Word format) to the newsletter editor by the 20th deadline. If no recipes are submitted, he will be forced to publish his recipe for microwave popcorn. – Ed.

Hackers Show Off How They Can Take Over Your Car

You'll be surprised to see what they can control from the back seat

Posted: Jul 26, 2013

About a month ago, we here at AOL Autos told you about the new department the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has set up to deal with the potential that hackers can get into your car's computer system and take it over. This week, the folks at Forbes showed us exactly what that would look like. Reporter Andy Greenberg met up with two hackers who've been commissioned by DARPA, the research arm of the U.S. defense department, figure out how to hack into car systems. And although they can't control the car remotely, the video shows how they can plug in and get the car to do anything they way.

- They can get the car's speedometer to read 199 mph while the car isn't going anywhere.
- They can disable the brakes.
- They can control the steering.
- They can tell the car, while its going 80 mph, that it's not going anywhere and trying to park itself.

The researchers are laughing the whole way through, but they seem to realize their ability to do this can be foreboding. "Imagine you were driving though traffic and you just wanted to stop ... and the next thing you know, you're on the news," says Chris Valasek, director of security for IOActive.

Veterans Day Parade

Saturday November 9, 2013

For the 8th year our club will be participating in this annual parade. Last year we had 25 cars and would like to have even more this year. As in past years we will also have the distinction of driving the Gold Star Mothers. We usually need 6-7 ladies driving convertibles for the Gold Star Mothers. This parade, along with the Fourth of July parade, is one of our most important events of the year.

We will assemble at the Krispy Kreme in South County near the JC Penney Home Store (I-55 and Lindbergh).

Be there between 9:30am and 10:00am. There will be a driver's meeting at 10:00am and leaving promptly after the meeting. We need to be in place by 10:30am with the parade beginning at noon.

Those of you who have done this before know the hurry up and wait drill.

We will have lunch at a place to be determined. The parade usually lasts about an hour.

Dress appropriately. We've done the parade in 20 degree and 75 degree weather. It is only cancelled if heavy sleet/snow. Don't forget to bring your radio and car flags.

Sign-ups will be at the meetings or email Ron Hagenow at hagenow1@charter.net.

Please support the men and women of our armed forces!
